RE: Comox Valley Water System DCC Update- Public Consultation Summary

Purpose

To present the feedback received through the public consultation process regarding the recommended increase in the Comox Valley Water System (CVWS) development cost charges (DCC).

Policy Analysis

Bylaw No. 2342, being the “Regional District of Comox-Strathcona Water Supply Development Cost Charges Bylaw No. 2342, 2001”, allows for the Comox Valley Regional District (CVRD) to develop DCCs for the purpose of providing funds to assist the regional district to pay the capital cost of providing, altering or expanding the water system infrastructure to service directly or indirectly, development in respect of which the charges are imposed.

The Local Government Act (RSBC 2015 c.1)(LGA) determines the requirements for establishing and amending DCCs.

At the August 11, 2017 meeting of the Comox Valley Water Committee the following motion was passed:

“THAT the Koers & Associates Engineering Ltd. study titled, “Comox Valley Water System Development Cost Charge Bylaw 2343 Update” dated March 29, 2017 be received and that the Comox Valley Regional District work with the municipalities to solicit stakeholder input and public notifications prior to first reading of the development cost charge bylaw.”

Executive Summary

As part of the April 11, 2017 staff report titled “Comox Valley Water System Development Cost Charges Update Study” the CVRD committed to soliciting stakeholder input and public notifications on the recommended increases to the DCC charges prior to first reading of the development cost charge bylaw.

In May 2017, the CVRD placed ads within the May 16 and 18, 2017 editions of the Comox Valley Record along with advertisements in the Building Links newsletter on May 3, 10 and 17, 2017, informing the public of the proposed changes to DCC rates. Social media posts were also completed throughout the month of May on Facebook and Twitter. A copy of the print ad is attached as Appendix A.

Also in May, the CVRD hosted an open-house discussing the proposed changes to the sewer and water DCCs for the local development community. An invitation was distributed to members of the Comox Valley Development and Construction Association and eight attendees with connections to the Comox Valley development community participated in the May session.

The general feedback from the open-house in May and follow-up communications with developers is summarized below, a full summary of the DCC information session in May is attached as Appendix B:

- Concern that the 10 year population estimates and construction outlooks provided by municipalities is too low.
- Concerns around the equivalent population demand selected for industrial development and the large increase in DCC rates for this development category.
- Discussion surrounding the burden of DCCs falling on developers.

The proposed new rates are listed in Table No.1 below. The rates were recommended as part of a technical study completed by Koers and Associates in 2017, which utilized the most current capital infrastructure cost and population growth projections. The DCC population projections were based off recently completed DCC studies for both municipalities and are based on growth strategies, past development information etc. Review of the municipal permit summary for single family homes supplied by Building Links, showed that the single family development projections for the City of Courtenay and Town of Comox for the next 10 years are within the historical five year and 10 year averages.

Table No.1: Comparison of Recommended and Current DCC Charges

Type of Development	Recommended DCC Charge	Current DCC Charge
Single Family Residential	$3,911/unit	$3,702/unit
Multi-Family Residential	$3,199/unit	$3,086/unit
Congregate Care Facility	$1,722/unit	$1,543/unit
Commercial	$13.80/m <sup>2</sup>	$10.80/m <sup>2</sup>
Institutional	$15.10/m <sup>2</sup>	$10.80/m <sup>2</sup>
Industrial/ Public Utility	$71,372/ha	$37,027/ha

Significant discussion regarding the major increase to the industrial/ public utility development DCC has occurred. The substantial increase in this category is in part two-fold. The DCC total recoverable capital project costs for water have increased substantially from the previous DCC study and the equivalent population factor has almost doubled, this has resulted in the significant increase to this category. The equivalent population demand is based on information provided from the municipalities, it is recommended at this time to adopt the recommended DCC charge for this category, but to monitor development and equivalent populations over the next two years and determine if changes to the equivalent population factor should be included at such time through a minor DCC update.

Based on the feedback and discussion following the open house in May, the CVRD is recommending proceeding with implementing the increased DCC charges. A redline draft of the bylaw is attached as Appendix C. Following third reading the DCC bylaw, the bylaw and supporting documentation will be forwarded to the Inspector of Municipalities for review and approval prior to adoption.

Similar to DCCs, which apply to development and subdivisions within the service area, the regional district also has a capital improvement cost charge (CICC) bylaw which applies to properties that are being brought into the service area from outside municipal boundaries. The water CICC bylaw ensures that properties being brought into the service area pay for the burden they add to water infrastructure. At the same time as the updates to the DCC bylaw occur the CICC bylaw will also be updated to reflect the same rates as laid out within DCC bylaw. The redline draft of this bylaw is attached as Appendix D.

Recommendations from the Chief Administrative Officer:

1. THAT the board amend Bylaw No. 2342, being the “Regional District of Comox-Strathcona Water Supply Development Cost Charges Bylaw No. 2342, 2001” to the revised bylaw attached as Appendix C;

AND FURTHER THAT the revised Bylaw No.2342 be considered for first, second and third readings at the September 19, 2017 board meeting.

2. THAT the board amend Bylaw No. 2350, being the “Comox Valley Water Supply System Capital Improvement Cost Charge Bylaw No. 2350, 2001” to the revised bylaw attached as Appendix D;

AND FURTHER THAT the revised Bylaw No.2350 be considered for first, second and third readings at the September 19, 2017 board meeting.

Bylaw Update

CVRD updating development cost charges for water and sewer systems

Development cost charges (DCCs) are collected from land developers to offset infrastructure costs for new development in the Comox Valley. This update to the DCC is to ensure that existing users are not burdened with these costs.

Interested developers and public are invited to an information session about the CVRD's water and sewer development cost charges and the proposed bylaw changes.

Thursday, May 25, 2017, 3 pm to 4:30 pm (presentation to start at 3:15 pm) CVRD Boardroom, 600 Comox Road, Courtenay.

DCC Info Session Summary – May 25, 2017

Eight attendees with connections to the Comox Valley development community participated in the information session, including representatives from:

- Presley and Partners
- Wm. S. Jackson & Associates Ltd.
- Benco Ventures
- Old House Hotel and Spa
- Seawind Construction
- Building Links
- Lazo Construction Ltd.

A presentation outlining the planned changes to the Development Cost Charges for sewer and water was provided, followed by a question session where the following themes emerged:

- There was a general consensus that the 10 year population estimates and construction outlook provided by the municipalities was too low.
- Concerns around DCC rates for industrial lands, given that most of these properties would require very little in terms of sewer or water services.
- Capacity of the sewer system and the ability to handle increased development in the future, particularly in East Courtenay.
- Questions around the hold on development in East Courtenay.
- There were also several themes related to the burden of DCC's falling on the backs of developers including:
  - Developers passing these costs onto homeowners by increasing prices.
  - Suggestions to charge homeowners directly the next time rates are increased.
  - Tying DCC's to housing affordability. Suggestions to create DCC free zones in low income areas, on homes with smaller square footage or in areas where a municipality may be focusing on revitalization.

The project team committed to:

- Reviewing the municipal permit summary to be supplied by Building Links. The team will forward the information to the City of Courtenay and the Town of Comox for their response (given that all population and building estimates are based on municipal data and the bylaw requires the CVRD to use this data).
- Supplying all attendees with a copy of the presentation.
